"FRENZIED FINANCE"

SHOWN BY REPORT

Receiver of Superior Brick Tile and Milling Company Gets Busy.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, Jan. 30.—If the report of Carl C. Rasmussen, the recently appointed receiver for the Superior Brick Tile and Milling company, is anywhere near correct, and his assumptions regarding the manipulation of the affairs of the company since its organization last fall are not erroneous, the officers of the defunct concern have played a game of "frenzied finance" which would make even Tom Lawson sit up and take notice.

Upon the complaint of Peter E. Lamar, one of the original stockholders of the company, Judge Howell placed the company in the hands of Receiver Rasmussen several days ago. Since this time the receiver has been busy tracing money paid into the treasury of the company for stock unaccounted for on the "loose leaves" used in the office instead of a set of books.

According to the report filed this afternoon, the machinery installed by the company belongs to S. G. Shaw & Co., as only a small payment has been made on it; an automobile claimed by Franklin P. Johnson was paid for by the issuance of blocks of stock belonging to the company, and a number of shares of the company, which are 1000 shares held by Samuel Jeff of Logan, has never been paid for, or at least there is no record yet found by the receiver to show that the money was received by the company. These are only a few of the many irregularities which the receiver says he has found in his brief examination of the financial status of the company. According to the report, the liabilities of the company reach $350,000, while the assets, including to a large extent unpaid stock, amount to $350,000.

Receiver Rasmussen says that he also finds that some of the incorporators paid other consideration for the stock which they held except the conveyance of property mentioned in the articles of incorporation, which is "grossly excessive in its valuation."

David C. Larson, although known to be a relation of the Wall Street plunger, was one of the officers of the company, and, the receiver says, holds 10,000 shares of the stock for which he has not paid a cent since 1900.

Receiver Rasmussen asks the court to approve the employment of Agee & McCracken, which he found necessary in order to assist him in delving into the affairs of the defunct concern.

HANS WIGGINS HAS GREAT SENSE OF HUMOR

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Jan. 30.—Hans Wiggins, a noted police officer, has a sense of humor in him which would prompt a man to steal money from a policeman and afterward offer to pay his fine with the money which he had stolen.

While T. Alvord, the manager of a second-hand store, was at the front of his place of business watching for prospective customers, Hans betook himself to the rear, and, gathering up several sections of salvaged iron from Alvord's junk pile, walked to the front and disposed of it to the manager of the establishment for $2.50.

Alvord later imagined that he had sold this piece of salvaged iron and began to investigate. Going to the junk pile he found the enterprising thief gathering up a fresh supply with which he had promised to supply the junk man. Alvord's anger was called and Hans was arrested. He explained to the court that he didn't consider himself a violator of the law, as he had "found" the pipe. The "finders" of the court were that Wiggins must spend fifteen days in the city jail.

NEW COMPLAINT FILED IN GOFF ROBBERY CASE

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Jan. 30.—Failing to obtain permission from the court to amend the complaint charging B. E. Bramlett, B. G. McGuire and John K. Garrett with the robbery of Frank Goff, the receiver of the county, Nathan Harris today filed new complaints covering the points which were not included in the former charges.

In addition to the three defendants, who conduct the Apex saloon, the name of James Fleming, alias James Dublin, appears in the new complaint which was issued late this afternoon. Bramlett, McGuire and Garrett have already been bound over to the district court on the charge of robbery. From the evidence produced at the preliminary hearing the district attorney believes that he has sufficient evidence to also warrant Fleming's conviction on the same charge.

Goff is a machinist. According to his story he was robbed of $340 in money and a watch valued at $30 in a room above the Apex saloon while in an intoxicated condition, for which the defendants are accused of being responsible.

No Labor Troubles.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Jan. 30.—Master Mechanic D. J. Malone announced today that there will be no recurrence of the labor troubles between white men and Japs, which caused considerable excitement a year ago. Mr. Malone says that the trouble which recently arose over the rumor that white car cleaners would be "let out" and Japs hired in their place has been settled, and no labor troubles are now anticipated.

While not admitting its liability, the company agrees to pay the administrator of the estate $250 in settlement of the claim, which has been accepted.

FOUR ESCAPE FROM INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Jan. 30.—Using a pancake burner, three jail inmates of the State Industrial school managed to pry open the screen over the window to their dormitory yesterday afternoon and make their escape for several hours. They were later captured at the Ogden river bridge. George Lewis, a lad sent to the school from Salt Lake, had better luck. While hauling coal to the institution yesterday, the youngest escaped the observation of the guard long enough to secrete himself, and as yet has not been found. He is believed to have taken a freight train out of the city.

The girls who figured in the temporary escape are Grace Nelson, Pearl Matthews and Mary Sandall. The Nelson girl was taken to the school from Salt Lake a year ago for frequenting a "hop joint."

Two Couples Wedded.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Jan. 30.—Two couples were united in matrimony at the county building this afternoon. James H. Hodson and Miss Louise Portenheimer of Ogden were assisted in the culmination of their love affairs by Elder D. Folkman, the well known pastor-matchmaker at the county building, while District Judge Howell tied the knot which completed the happiness of John Bronson and Miss Mary Earl of Elwood.

NEWS NOTES FROM WEISER, IDAHO

Special to The Tribune.

WEISER, Ida., Jan. 30.—The Weiser Rod and Gun club is arranging for a two-days' shooting tournament next May, dates to be selected. It is probable the shoot will be held on days intervening between the tournaments to be held at Boise and Walla Walla. A one-day tournament was held here last May, and was so successful that the club has decided to have a two-days' shoot this year. About seventy-five of the leading expert shooters of the county have notified the Weiser Rod and Gun club that they will be present. Liberal prizes will be offered by the club. Application for membership in the interstate shooting tournament has been made by the Weiser Rod and Gun club, and as soon as the application has been acted upon arrangements for the big shoot will begin.

A two-days' session of a farmers' institute was held Monday and Tuesday in this city. Prof. French, head of the dairy department, Prof. Shinn of the horticultural department, Prof. Francis of the dairy department, and Prof. Nelson of the irrigation department of Idaho State university conducted the institute and gave interesting talks along lines in which they are experts. There was a large attendance of farmers, dairymen and orchardists, and the institute was a success in every respect. It is the intention of the university shortly to run an instruction train over the Short Line railroad, stopping at all the towns along the line and giving instruction to the ranchers and all others interested.

Lincoln day, February 12, will be observed by the schools of Washington county. An interesting programme has been arranged by the county and state superintendent in commemoration of the 100th birthday of the great emancipator. The city schools will also observe the day in suitable manner.

Coroner Bowen returned yesterday from Cambridge in the northern part of the county, forty miles from here, where he went to investigate the death of Samuel Moore, whose death occurred at the county poor farm December 16, 1908. Suspicion had been aroused that his death was not due to natural causes, and the body was exhumed and an inquest held. It was found that death resulted from the formation of a blood clot on the brain, caused by a blow of some blunt instrument. There were also bruises on his arms and hip. Moore was engaged in cutting wood near Starkey Springs, above Council. About the first of December he was found in his cabin suffering from paralysis and unconsciousness. He was taken to the Starkey sanitarium, where he was kept several days, and not improving was taken to the poor farm, where he died. Rumors have been rife for some time that Moore was a victim of foul play, that he had trouble with one of his employees a few days previous to the time he was discovered in the cabin. He was about sixty years of age and had no known relatives. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that he came to his death from a blow delivered by some one unknown to the jury. No arrests have been made yet, but the officers are making a rigid examination. He never regained consciousness after he was discovered in his cabin.

Local option is all the talk of this section at this time. The passage of the county local option bill by the lower house of the legislature is occasioning much comment, pro and con. Some are of the opinion that on a vote on the question the county would go dry, while many others are just as strong in the opinion that it would not. Considerable interest is manifested in what will be the result of the bill when it comes up in the senate.

The high-handed proceeding of the state land board in holding a secret meeting and granting a fifty-year lease to G. W. Thompson and others of Lewiston to mine 8000 acres of state land for iron on a royalty basis, has occasioned much unfavorable comment here. It is looked upon as a high-handed proceeding, and no doubt a demand will be made for an investigation of the unprecedented action of the board.

Weiser is an applicant for the location of the state deaf and blind school. The building in which the institution was located was burned at Boise last winter. The location of the school at Boise a year ago was only a temporary arrangement, and as the building occupied by the children was destroyed it became necessary to establish a permanent home. Boise is also a candidate for the location of the institution. A meeting of business men and property owners of the city was held today to arrange for site to be donated to the institution if it is located here. A bill has been introduced in the legislature to appropriate $50,000 for the construction of a building for the institution. Choice of two or three fine sites will be offered by Weiser. A strong fight will be made to secure the location of it in this city.

Ray Bradshaw, a young boy of this city, while hunting a day or two ago, shot off the first finger of his right hand at the first joint. It was so badly mangled that it was concluded necessary to take off the entire finger, which was done. The boy sat his gun down on the side of a ditch where he was resting, when in some manner it was exploded with the above result. He had a narrow escape from more serious injury, if not death.

Tom Williams, a negro, was bound over to the district court in the sum of $1000 for passing a forged check for $100. The officers do not think Williams forced the check, but rather passed it for some one else. The writer of the check is a good penman, while Williams can scarcely write at all.

Vice President and General Manager Heigho of the P. & N. railway of this city and Mrs. Heigho and little daughter Katherine are at Salt Lake, where they went to have an operation performed on their daughter's throat by a specialist.

NOT CLEAR SAILING FOR LOCAL OPTION

Bill Introduced in Idaho Senate Raises Percent of Voters Required.

Special to The Tribune.

BOISE, Ida., Jan. 30.—Another surprise was sprung in the senate today when local option bill No. 2 was introduced. The measure provides for county option. It provides that a vote of 40 per cent of the voters can bring it into effect in the counties and make the law an issue, whereas 20 per cent of the aggregate vote is required by the house bill passed a few days ago.

While the local optionists thought they had clear sailing with the house bill, which received their seal of approval, they are now somewhat at sea and are at a loss to understand this latest move. The measure was constructed by the majority of the Republican aggregation of the senate, and thus starts a bitter wrangle over a party issue among the majority members of the legislature.
